PM Labels Limited have been offering solutions to the Mail Order sector for over 10 years.

Adding other mailing products to our extensive range of labels was a natural progression and it has proven to be the right decision.

All the products we offer are available as a stock product or indeed a custom design to meet your own branding requirements.

We are able to supply all quantity requirements from large to small at competitive prices. Our degradable range of eco poly jackets offer distinct environmental benefits. The film has an additive put into the film construction which accelerates the degrading process. Once the film is exposed to stress via UV light or heat generated by placing the bag in ground fill the film will degrade within 18 months.

The strength of the eco film range is not compromised and all the performance characteristics of more conventional films are maintained. This product offers you a responsible approach to your packaging solutions.

All the products that we offer from stock are detailed on our new website www.label3000.com product and carton sizes are all detailed to help you make the right decision.

If you want to discuss your custom requirements please feel free to call our sales team on FREEPHONE 0500 503350 and speak to Steve Jones in our Mail Order Sales Team.
